

Star Wars: The Old Republic

Written by Old-Republic.com

Friday, 02 January 2009 00:59 - Last Updated Friday, 02 January 2009 15:54

It's not a rumor anymore! Bioware and Lucas Arts are creating a new MMO based on the Old Republic Universe. The game is going to be called "The Old Republic" or SWTOR or TOR. This massively multiplayer online video game is not like all other MMOs. The new game is going to be a story driven MMO. So it's like playing KotOR3 online with all your friends instead of alone. Bioware which developed KotOR1 is leading this project. KotOR1 was considered to be a superior game according to our online poll. It beat KotOR2 with over 51% of the votes. KotOR2 was developed by Obsidian Entertainment. As one of the oldest knights of the old republic fan communities, we've waited years for this game! We hope it will bring some life back into this great and now old series.