

Battle of Telos IV

Written by Spencer Summers

Sunday, 23 July 2006 18:36 - Last Updated Sunday, 23 July 2006 18:37

The Battle of Telos IV was a ground and space engagement between the forces of the Galactic Republic, led by Admiral Carth Onasi and the Jedi Exile, and the Sith fleet of the Sith Lord Darth Nihilus that was the second-to-last battle of the 5-year Sith Civil War and occurred sometime in 3,951 BBY.

Prelude

The Sith Lord Darth Nihilus was informed by his former Master, the Sith Lord Darth Traya, that the Jedi Master Atris and a reforming Jedi Order was in a secret academy on the planet of Telos. Master Atris was a former Council member of the Jedi Council before it was annihilated by Nihilus several years earlier on the Mid Rim world of Katarr.

Nihilus immediately set out to finish the mission he'd done incompletely on Katarr, gathering his whole fleet for a strike on Telos to eradicate the last hopes of reestablishing the fragmented Jedi Order.

However, the Lord of Hunger had been deliberately misinformed by Traya, who was also known as the Master of Deception amongst both the Jedi and the Sith. Firstly, Atris was no longer a Jedi Master. She had collected Sith holocrons in order to learn about her enemy, but overestimated her resistive powers, and fell to the dark side. Secondly, there was no "reforming Jedi Order". When Nihilus arrived at Telos and killed Atris, he would be searching for more nonexistent Jedi. In fact, there were only three Jedi left in the galaxy, and none of them were even near Telos.

The Lord of Hunger would remain on Telos, searching for the Jedi that never existed. He would starve himself of life, and die, ending the reign of Darth Nihilus.

Nihilus launched his fleet from beyond the Outer Rim, with a proto-Star Destroyer named Ravager and two Sith Interdictor cruisers, and many highly maneuverable Sith Interceptors, and set course for Telos.

Battle of Telos IV

Written by Spencer Summers

Sunday, 23 July 2006 18:36 - Last Updated Sunday, 23 July 2006 18:37

Epilogue

After the loss of the Ravager, the Sith fleet fell into disarray and splintered, making them easy pickings for the formerly outgunned Republic fleet lead by Admiral Onasi on his flagship, the Sojourn.

The admiral and the Jedi Bastila Shan, who had both served with the great Jedi named Revan (the player character in the original Knights of the Old Republic), then questioned the Exile if she knew the current whereabouts of their former leader. Revan had disappeared into the Unknown Regions to stop a menace that was threatening to destroy the galaxy. He was never heard from again.

Battle of Telos IV

Written by Spencer Summers

Sunday, 23 July 2006 18:36 - Last Updated Sunday, 23 July 2006 18:37

The Exile admitted she'd not seen anything of her own former friend, and promised to Carth and Bastila that if she found something about Revan, she'd pass it on. She then travelled on to Malachor V to stop Kreia.

*Retrieved from "http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle_of_Telos_IV"